Min Phone San is a resilient boy who was born with deformed legs and feet. In February 2021, he had his first major operation on one leg but had both legs and feet put in plaster, to help improve his mobility and comfort.

He is now 7 years old and is keen on learning. He is extremely bright and can grasp everything that the teacher teaches. Despite being born with deformed legs and feet, his enthusiasm for attending the class knows no bounds.

In March, Min Phone San had to go to Yangon again because he had to have another operation on his legs and feet. In this operation, some small plates were inserted in both his legs and feet to straighten them out. Now that he has returned home, he must schedule an online consultation with the doctor in three weeks, and he still has plaster on both legs. We hope he will be able to walk normally soon.
